Magnus Lindberg wrote his first orchestral score at the age of 17, before taking any lessons in composition. He was curious and not afraid of going his own way. He constructed music with post-Webern serial procedures, as if he was trying to explore the limits of a certain way of making music. Theoretical, extremely complex structures were then defying, and often exceeding, the skills of the human performer.

Yet at the same time Lindberg used to take his music theory lessons early on Saturday mornings, playing the classical repertoire arranged for piano duet with his teacher. Knowing what had been done by the masters before him seemed to urge him to test the boundaries. As his composition teacher Paavo Heininen put it, “if a composer cannot say that he has done something that has not been done before, he cannot say he has done anything at all”.

In 1985 came Kraft, a study in rhythm and sound. It was the young Lindberg’s Rite of Spring. The basic structure and processes were calculated using an elaborate software program, but the focus was already different. Now it looked like Lindberg was challenging the possibilities of musical sound, using scrapyard objets trouvés as instruments along with traditional classical sounds. Music burst out with raw, unrefined noise and primitive energy, as in the performances of punk bands that he had heard in Berlin clubs. “Only the extreme is interesting” he declared.

“The orchestra is my favourite instrument” stated Lindberg, confirming something that is clear already by looking at his worklist. Aura from 1994 is another revealing piece of the jigsaw puzzle that is, one day, to reveal the full picture of Magnus Lindberg, the composer. Spiritual heir of Sibelius, Lindberg the iconoclast shows that he, too, is able and willing to embrace symphonic thinking.

Technically the music of Magnus Lindberg is based on a solid construction of harmony and rhythm. He often deploys a chaconne technique, where the musical narrative is built over a repeated harmonic sequence. Despite this the music does not sound theoretical, due to the juicy soundworld, teeming with life. There is a clear sense of dramaturgy as if the musical characters were protagonists in an abstract drama.

In his most recent works, especially in the concertos for clarinet (2002) and violin (2006), he has also introduced a clear melodic aspect which was not such a primary concern in his earlier output. After some 30 years of composition and 80 works one observes that Magnus Lindberg is still heading, with a characteristic curiosity, towards unknown territories, and yet remaining true to where he started. Instead of constructing post-modern collages of other composers' music, his works are a reflection of a versatile personality which distils music history out of an abundance of sonic information. A true composer's statement in music.

Editor of Magnus Lindberg (Les Cahiers de l'IRCAM, 1993), Artistic Director of IRCAM (1991-96), Director of Helsinki Festival (1996-)

Magnus Lindberg écrit ses premières partitions orchestrales dès l'âge de dix-sept ans, avant même d'étudier la composition, poussé par la curiosité et sans craindre de s'engager dans sa propre direction. Il conçut une musique orientée par des procédés postsériels dans la lignée de Webern, emporté semble-t-il par ce désir de franchir les limites d'un cadre compositionnel particulier. Ce faisant, Lindberg édifia des structures musicales d'une complexité extrême, les difficultés techniques desquelles auraient très certainement exiger des prouesses vertigineuses des meilleurs interprètes de l'époque.

Toutefois, parallèlement à ses expérimentations, Lindberg suivit, tôt le samedi matin, des leçons d'analyse musicale au cours desquelles il jouait des arrangements du répertoire classique au piano à quatre mains avec son professeur. La connaissance des œuvres des maîtres du passé l'incita à s'essayer aux extrêmes, suivant en cela la position exprimée par son professeur de composition Paavo Heininen : « Un compositeur qui ne pourrait affirmer avoir entrepris une démarche encore inédite ne saurait prétendre avoir réalisé quoi que ce soit ! »

En 1985 parut Kraft, étude de rythme et de sonorité, sorte de « Sacre du Printemps » du jeune Lindberg. La structure fondamentale et les développements de l'œuvre furent calculés à l'aide d'un logiciel informatique sophistiqué, mais son objectif s'était déjà déplacé. Lindberg, à ce moment-là, mettait à l'épreuve les possibilités ouvertes par le son musical, mêlant les sonorités produites par des « objets trouvés » recyclés en instruments et les timbres classiques traditionnels. Sa musique, d'une énergie primitive, explosait en bruits bruts dénués de raffinement, à l'image des concerts des ensembles punk qu'il avait entendus dans les clubs berlinois et conformément à son principe affirmé : « Seul l'extrême est intéressant. »

« L'orchestre est mon instrument préféré ». Cet aveu de Magnus Lindberg confirme ce qui transparaît déjà de sa production. Aura, en 1994, ajouta une pièce nouvelle et significative au puzzle qui révélera, plus tard, son envergure de compositeur. Fils spirituel de Sibelius, Lindberg, l'iconoclaste, s'y montre, lui aussi, capable d'aborder la pensée symphonique et résolu à le faire.

Techniquement, les compositions de Magnus Lindberg se fondent sur une solide construction harmonique et rythmique. Il se sert souvent du procédé de la chaconne appuyant la progression musicale sur une séquence harmonique répétée. Sa musique rompt, néanmoins, avec ce côté doctrinaire grâce à un univers sonore savoureux et débordant de vie faisant preuve d'un vrai sens dramatique où des personnages musicaux seraient les protagonistes d'un drame abstrait.

Dans ses œuvres les plus récentes, en particulier le Concerto pour clarinette (2002) et le Concerto pour violon (2006), Lindberg introduisit une dimension mélodique absente des préoccupations de ses productions précédentes. Après trente années de composition et quelques quatre-vingts œuvres à son actif, Magnus Lindberg se tourne toujours avec la même avidité vers des territoires inconnus, tout en restant fidèle à ses débuts. Loin des collages postmodernes rencontrés chez d'autres, ses œuvres reflètent une personnalité multiple qui diffuse son histoire à partir d'une abondante information acoustique. Le message du compositeur passe véritablement par sa musique.

Editeur de Magnus Lindberg (1993, Les Cahiers de l'IRCAM), Directeur artistique de l'IRCAM (1991-1996), Directeur du Festival d'Helsinki (depuis 1996)

Siebzehnjährig schrieb Magnus Lindberg seine erste Orchesterpartitur, ohne Kompositionssunterricht erhalten zu haben. Unerstrocknet und voller Neugier verfolgte er seinen eigenen Weg. Seine Musik baute damals auf post-Webern'schen seriellen Prinzipien auf, gleichsam als gälte es, die Grenzen bestimmter Kompositionstechniken auszuloten. Die theoretischen, extrem komplexen Strukturen forderten die Fähigkeiten der Interpreten heraus, überstiegen sie bisweilen bewusst.

Zu dieser Zeit begann Lindberg Unterricht in Musiktheorie zu nehmen und spielte die klassische Literatur in Klavierbearbeitungen vierhändig mit seinem Lehrer durch. Angeregt durch das Wissen um die Errungenschaften der Meister, schien er förmlich darauf zu drängen, auf neues Gebiet vorzustoßen – ganz im Sinne seines Kompositionslehrers Paavo Heininen, der erklärte: „Wenn ein Komponist nicht von sich sagen kann, etwas getan zu haben, was vor ihm noch niemand getan hat, kann er nicht behaupten, überhaupt etwas getan zu haben.“

Im Jahre 1985 entstand Kraft, eine Studie in Rhythmus und Klang. Damit hatte der junge Lindberg sein Sacre du printemps vorgelegt. Zwar hatte er die Grundstrukturen und Verfahren mit Hilfe eines aufwendigen Computerprogramms errechnet, doch standen diese nicht mehr im Mittelpunkt. Inzwischen ging es Lindberg eher darum, die Möglichkeiten musikalischen Klangs bis an die Grenzen zu treiben – neben traditionsverbundenen klassischen Klängen kamen auch objets trouvés vom Schrottplatz als Instrumente zum Einsatz. Die Musik brach mit rohem, unbändigem Lärm und urtümlicher Energie hervor, ähnlich den Punkkonzerten, die Lindberg in Berliner Clubs erlebt hatte. „Nur das Extreme ist interessant“, erklärte er.

„Das Orchester ist mein Lieblingsinstrument“, bekannte Lindberg, womit sich bestätigt, was auch aus der Liste seiner Werke ersichtlich wird. Aura, aus dem Jahr 1994, ist ein weiteres aufschlussreiches Puzzlestück, das dazu beitragen wird, eines Tages ein vollständiges Bild des Komponisten Magnus Lindberg zusammenzufügen: Als geistiger Erbe von Sibelius zeigt der Bilderstürmer Lindberg, dass auch er den Willen und die Fertigkeit besitzt, sinfonisches Denken in seine Kunst zu integrieren.

Kompositionstechnisch beruht die Musik Magnus Lindbergs auf kompakten harmonischen und rhythmischen Strukturen. Häufig kommt ein Chaconne-Verfahren zum Einsatz, bei dem sich das musikalische Geschehen über einer wiederholten harmonischen Sequenz aufbaut. In den Vordergrund treten die theoretischen Grundlagen jedoch nicht, was dem satten, vor Leben sprühenden Klangbild zu verdanken ist. Die Musik trägt deutlich dramatische Züge, als seien die musikalischen Charaktere Protagonisten eines abstrakten Schauspiels.

In seinen neuesten Werken, insbesondere den Konzerten für Klarinette (2002) und Violine (2006), ist ein klares melodisches Element erkennbar, wie es in Lindbergs früheren Werken eher im Hintergrund stand. Nach gut 30 Jahren kompositorischen Schaffens und 80 Werken ist zu beobachten, dass Magnus Lindberg sich nach wie vor, mit seiner charakteristischen Neugier, in unbekannte Gefilde vorwagt und dabei gleichzeitig seinen Anfängen treu bleibt. Anstatt die Musik anderer Komponisten zu postmodernen Collagen zusammenzusetzen, reflektieren seine Werke eine vielseitige Persönlichkeit, bei der sich aus einer Fülle klanglicher Information Musik-Geschichte herauskristallisiert. Ein wahrhaftes Bekenntnis in Musik.

"The score is sophisticated yet immediately engrossing... A Sibelius sense of mysterious winds blowing everything around is strong at first... In the middle, Sculpture turns into a miniature concerto for orchestra, focusing on different instrumental sections competing to be the most dazzling. At the end the organ came rumbling in, lingering "Zarathustra"-like in its low register. Tubas and other brass instruments took positions around the hall... The piece climaxes with rousing Stravinskyan rhythms... The orchestral writing is that of a master." (Los Angeles Times)

“...a work that liberally mixes the exquisite colours of the orchestra... and that in its luminescent excess is indeed reminiscent of Schoenberg’s Gurrelieder: as a revolving sphere of sound in which opulence follows upon opulence.
(Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung)

“Again and again the huge orchestra releases bolts of energy... Lindberg’s sun does not smile mildly upon its worshippers. Instead, it fires up the music and lends it a lasting resplendence.” (Berliner Morgenpost)

“...an extravagant and glittering piece on a grand scale, full of bold gestures and big effects... The second movement ends with a solo cello cadenza so lengthy that it is almost a miniature concerto, a mournful lament full of ethereal harmonics. The third movement is the work’s darkest, opening in the lower depths of the bass registers and rising to a howl of anguish before settling into a pensive chorale and slipping unobtrusively into silence.” (Financial Times)
