

Fingering puzzle

Horse left his copy of Old MacDonald's Recorder Book outside, and all the pages blew around the farmyard. Now his fingering diagrams are all muddled up. He can remember how to play high D, but needs help with the others. Look at the recorders below and draw a line from each recorder to its matching note.

The puzzle consists of a central illustration of a horse's head. Surrounding the horse are ten recorders and ten musical staves, each with a single note. A line is drawn from the top-left recorder to the top staff, which contains a high D note. The other recorders and notes are scattered around, intended for the user to match them.
